Understanding Shame

Shame is the feeling that you are fundamentally flawed — not that you did something wrong (that's guilt), but that you ARE wrong. Shame thrives in secrecy, silence, and judgment.

Identify the Shame Message

What does the shame voice say? (e.g., "I'm unlovable," "I'm broken," "I deserve this")

Trace the Origin

Where did this message come from? (Family, culture, trauma, relationship)

Reality Check

عقاولا نأ ققأأأ

- Is this shame message a FACT or a FEELING?
- Would I say this to a friend in the same situation?
- Whose voice is this really? (Often it's an internalized abuser/critic)

Self-Compassion Response

Write a compassionate response to yourself as you would to a dear friend:

Key self-compassion phrases:

- "This is a moment of suffering. Suffering is part of life."
- "May I be kind to myself in this moment."
- "May I give myself the compassion I need."
